Reporter Inglis Describes the Play to Magistrate Mott.

NEW YORK, March 1.-The "Sapho" hearing was today resumed by Magistrate Mott in his private room in the Center street court. The first witness was William Inglis, a reporter, who resumed his testimony at the point he had left off on last Tuesday. He described the second scene in the first act. He identified as correct the photographs shown him of the scene, one being that of Fanny being carried upstairs by Jean.

DEATH OF A NUN.

Sister Anna Maria Snowden Buried This Afternoon.

Sister Anna Maria Snowden died yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Georgetown Academy of Visitation, the mother house of the order in the country. The de-crased had been a nun for over half a century. The funeral was held this afternoon o'clock, the religious services being conducted by Rev. Father Devitt, S. J., of Georgetown University. The interment was in the burying ground attached to the academy.

The deceased was seventy-nine years of age, and for fifty-two years had been in the convent. She was a native of Prince George's county, Maryland. Two years ago she celebrated her golden jubilee as a cloistered sister. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Mr. J. T. Clements.

esumed its sessions today Representative Campbell, who was on the stand yesterday was cross-examined by Mr. Faulkner. He told of the organization of the movemen for the investigation of Mr. Clark'e elec tion. He said the first meeting was in Butte last March, those present being Mr. Hartman, Dr. Campbell of Livingston, Marcus Daly, H. L. Myers, Speaker Stiff, Mr. Tuohy, Mr. Metts, Mr. Toole and Mr. Finlan. A committee was then appointed with Mr. Campbell as chairman, to gather ne would expect others to also make contributions."

"Was any limit placed upon you as to the amount to be expended?"

"Nothing was said on that score, except that Mr. Daly said we had millions for defense, but not a cent for tribute."

Mr. Faulkner presented letters which Mr. Campbell had written to detectives whom he had employed in the case, first drawing from the witness the fact that detectives had been engaged in Montana, in Washington and in New York. In Montana they were engaged to work up evidence and in Washington and New York to keep an eye on witnesses believed to be unfaithful.

"Did you instruct the detectives to ingratiate themselves into the good graces of Mr. Clark's friends?" he was asked.

"I did," was the reply. "I told them to get employment from them or to get into their good graces in any way they could."

In response to a question Mr. Campbell said that L. D. McLain of Minneapolis was one of the detectives engaged.

one of the detectives engaged.

He denied that he had instructed McLain while in his employ to stop at nothing. "Nor," he said, "did I ever give him or any one else instructions to use any unfair means in working up the case."

The witness was questioned concerning his connection with "Swede" Murphy, the witness who has been so long missing, and also with Tom McLaughlin.

Mr. Campbell said that Murphy had sought him out and had agreed to make an affidavit in the case; that he (Campbell) had put the statement in affidavit form, but that he made no suggestion as to what he or McLaughlin should testify to. He told of Murphy's disappearance from Washington and said that McLaughlin had not been put on the stand because his statement could not be corroborated.

The witness said that in preparing the affidavit to be signed by Murphy the name of the legislator had been left blank, but that this was done at Murphy's instance.

Mr. Campbell said that his salary as attorney for the Washoe Mining Company is $5,000 a year. He also stated that he would supply the committee with a statement of his expenditures, but that he preferred to have it examined by a subcommittee and supply the committee with a statement of his expenditures, but that he preferred to have it examined by a subcommittee and not made public. Still, if the committee de-sired that it should be public he had no ob-jection. Without deciding this point the committee took a recess for two hours.

THE SOLDIER DEAD.

Remains of Sixty-Six Buried in Arlington Today.

The remains of sixty-six of the victims of the Spanish-American war were interred today in the plot set apart for the purpose at the Arlington national cemetery. ceremonies attending were extremely simple. Very few people were present to wit-ness the exercises, and those who braved the rain and discomforts of walking in the mud were for the most part officials or relatives of some of the deceased soldiers. The services proceeded, despite the inclemency of the weather, and were conducted

The services proceeded, despite the inclemency of the weather, and were conducted on the same general pian as on the preceding similar occasions. The full garrison from Fort Myer was not ordered out, and the post band kept indoors. As a consequence the ceremonies were void of many customary features. A firing detail from Fort Myer, composed of about fifty men, was stationed in front of the graves, the soldiers having planks upon which to stand to prevent them from sinking ankle deep in the mud.

The exercises were under the direction of Col. True of the quartermaster's department, U. S. A., assisted by Mr. C. E. Miller. Promptly at 1 o'clock the services began. Rev. D. J. Stafford, D. D., and Rev. Father Dolan of St. Patrick's Church read the ritual of the dead for the Catholic Church, while Rev. Mr. Patton, assistant minister at St. John's Church, corner of 16th and H streets, read the impressive service of the Episcopal faith. The firing party discharged three voileys over the rows of boxes and "taps" were sounded by a bugler from the Fort Myer garrison. After the performance of their duties the soldiers were marched back to the fort with their guns beneath their capes to protect the weapons from the rain.

Among the boddes interred was that of Louis Wagner, a former Georgetown boy, whose father and uncle attended the services this morning. Young Wagner enlisted as a private in Company A. 18th United States Infantry, and died June 17, 1899, at Puerto Principe. He was a son of Mr. H. August Wagner of 3221 M street.

The body of another young soldier named Coleman was also in the same lot, and relatives of the young man were at the cemetery to witness the burial. Coleman was in the regiment with Wagner, and when the latter died Coleman was one of the pallbearers. The survivor succumbed shortly after the burial, and his body and that of Wagner were exhumed at the same time, both being shipped to New York on the same transport for burial in their nattwe country. The relatives of both soldiers mutually extended ea chief announces the relief of Ladysmith by a general signal, the great dockyards and war vessels greeting it with cheers.

What the next move will be remains as much a conundrum as prior to the receipt of Gen. Buller's dispatch.

Lord Dundonald is assumed to have made a wide turning movement eastward, skirting Bulwana Hill, and Gen. Buller may reasonably be expected to be in Ladysmith with the bulk of his forces by tonight. Whether, like Roberts, at Kimberley, ha will be able to turn the tables on the retreating Boers, remains to be seen. But opinion here inclines to the belief that no aggressive movement can be immediately aggressive movement can be immediately undertaken by Gen. Buller's and Gen. While it is generally realized that Lord Roberts' strategy is mainly responsible for the relief of Ladysmith, there is a feeling of anxiety lest his plans suffer from the hordes Gen. Buller might let slip into the Free State. Evidently Lord Roberts is awake to the situation.

It is reported in London, but the news is not confirmed, that Gen. French has already reached Bloemfontein, which is not improbable, as the Boers are scarcely expected to make a stand there.

Lady White, in a message in reply to congratulations, says:

"All the world is.in sympathy with me today, and I am in sympathy with all the world. I am delighted at the joyful news of the relief and am happy at the intelligence that my husband is well and safe at last. As a wife I can say no more. What happy wife could say more?"

WAR WILL BE PUSHED. There is to Be No Relaxation on Britain's Part.

LONDON, March 1.-In the house ords today Secretary of State for War, the Marquis of Lansdowne, replying to congratulations and a question, prefaced his announcement of the relief of Ladysmith by saying the news had at last removed the fear of an impending calamity. He added that he did not know whether most admiration should be given to Gen. White and the gallant defenders of Ladysmith, or to the brave men under Gen. Buller, or to Lord Roberts, to whose vigorous and suc-cessful offensive movement was due the fact that the pressure on Natal was re-

London Populace Throws Off All Reserve for the Nonce. LONDON, March 1, 4:45 p.m.-All day long cheering thousands kept up an incessant roar before the Mansion House, and all traffic in what is London's busiest concourse ceased. An elderly gentleman, with his black coat tails flying in the wind, climbed to the top of a blg lamp post in the middle of the street opposite the Mansion House and remained for about an hour with his legs curled around the post. Waving his hat in one hand and a flag in the other, he led the tumultuous cheering for each hero of the war and the flerce, hoarse each hero of the war and the flerce, hoarse imprecations of President Kruger and President Steyn. Pandemonium reigned. The news of the Mansion House demonstration had spread to all quarters of the city and there poured in a stream of hoodlums and fakirs laden down with flags; women, boys and all sorts and conditions of people. Silk hats flew into the air and small fights were of frequent occurrence. The hundreds of policemen on the spot had their hands full, but as long as the enterprise of the strength o their hands full, but as long as the en-thusiasm of the crowd was only confined to horseplay the officers did not interfere. Has Probably Existed for Some Time on Cosumel Island, The surgeon general of the marine hos pital service has received information that ubonic plague exists, and has existed probably for several weeks, in the Island of Cozumel, which lies off the east coast of Yu-catan, Mexico. He cabled for further information and notified all quarantine offiers in the United States, Cuba and Ports directed that proper precautions be obj directed that proper precautions be observed. The number of cases was not stated in the report, but the infection, the quarantine officer said, was brought from Brazil. It is not thought that the plugue is likely to be brought to this country directly from the island, for it is not probable that there is much shipping from that place. The chief cause for alarm is that the disease may spread from Cosumel to the mainland of Mexico, and thence work its way northward. The officials of the marine hospital service will make investigations in regard to the amount of shipping between points on the Mexican coast and the United States in order to sacertain the liability of infection from that sources.

GENERAL MARKET REPORTS

special Dispatch to The Evening Star. NEW YORK, March 1.-The reported relief of Ladysmith encouraged a better de mand in the London market this morning and the later confirmation of the achieve ment was reflected in increased buying by foreign houses. This buying failed to increase the legitimate local demand, however, and commission houses were disap pointed with the market's failure to re lect favorable developments. Earnings were uniformly good, the moderate increase in St. Paul's net statement being, perhaps negatively unfavorable in view of the substantial gains elsewhere Burlington's report for January shows an increase of $247.505 in surplus after all charges. Northern Pacific for the third week in February increased $00,157, making a total gain of $2,278,455 since July 1. Nashville reports an increase of $272,317 in net for January, and St. Paul gained $14.626 for the same period. The estimates as to the volume of these payments vary, but it is within reason to expect something over $30,- in reason to expect something over $30,000,000 to be released in this way.

The preparations for those payments may be attended with a slightly higher money rate, but such an incident should cause no concern. The currency bill is relied upon to relievo any stringency which may result from the ordinary, seasonable demand for funds. Saturday's bank statement will probably show.

for funds. Saturday's bank statement will probably show a further loss in cash and some stocks were sold around the room in anticipation of such showing.

Rumors of labor difficulties in the Chicago district had a disquieting influence on the Steel stocks, the market for them weakening under professional selling. In this connection it is interesting to note the revival of public interest in the preferred shares of the Iron and Steel issues. The increased dealing in fractional lots indicates very clearly the attractiveness of large returns in the presence of the very meager income inducements offered by the standard issues.

The minimum hazard of the principle i compensated for by the small return in the latter case. With government bonds bearing 2 per cent interest commanding a premium of 6 per cent when issued, it is not surprising that 6 per cent investments selling under par attract the inexperi-enced.

selling under par attract the inexperienced.
Third Avenue was again noticeably laoking in support and American Sugar sold down sharply from its closing level of yesterday. In the five days left for the manipulation of the dividend mystery the latter property is likely to undergo some very wide fluctuations. Until manipulation of a few stocks gives way to a legitimate demand for the general list there can be no sustained movement.
